

In the emulation campaign to "compare oneself with the advanced, learn from them and overtake them and help the less advanced to catch up", workers in the Peking No. 3 Cotton Textile Mill learn from the skilled hands and practise hard to perfect their technique, bringing about a steady increase in output and improvement in the quality of the product. In the picture, weavers share their advanced operational experience in quick methods of tying up broken yarn
Photograph by Sung Hsueh-kuang